Farmers Market Season

August 4, 2017

Camborne, ON – Farmers Market Season

The 2017 Farmers Market Season is here! - It's certainly been off to a slow start for farmers and local markets in many parts of the province. In June, we slowly saw strawberries make their first appearances, and now you are now starting to see signs up for local corn stand sales, beans, new potatoes and more.

Markets are the opportunity for farmers to directly sell their products to our consumers and should you wish to eat food in season, picked at the peak of its taste and nutritional value, then purchasing your food directly from farmers locally is the best option for you.

Below is a link that will assist you to locate your local farmers markets, vendors and roadside stands in our township and in Northumberland County.

You may be also interested to know that The Ontario Grain farmers have launched a new campaign called "Good in Every Grain" which features, recipes, education and upcoming fairs and events across Ontario.

We have also included a link to assist you when the crops are season. Availability Guide

Remember, buying local is good for the environment, the community and You!
